DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figures 8-9 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kessler 4,406,593. Kessler teaches all the limitations as substantially claimed for a hermetic compressor including: an electric driving element 50, a compressing element 84 driven by the electric driving element 50, and a closed vessel 27 for storing the electric driving element 50 and the compressing element 84, wherein the compressing element includes a shaft 240 having an eccentric shaft portion 190, and an auxiliary shaft portion 200 and a spindle portion 198 provided coaxially at the top and the bottom with the eccentric shaft portion 190 between, a cylinder block 77 provided with a compression chamber 76, a main bearing 188 provided on the cylinder block 77 and supporting the spindle portion 198, an auxiliary bearing 120 provided on the cylinder block 77 and supporting the auxiliary shaft portion 200, a piston 84 reciprocating in the compression chamber 76, and a connecting means 192 connecting between the piston 84 and the eccentric shaft portion 190, wherein a first balance weight 184 is provided at a side end of the eccentric shaft portion 190 of the auxiliary shaft portion 200, wherein a second balance weight 234 is provided at a side end of the eccentric shaft portion 190 of the spindle portion 198, and wherein the first balance weight 184 being constituted with the auxiliary shaft portion 200 and a separate member 236; an auxiliary shaft portion 200 and the first balance weight 184 are fixed by means of a screw 236 to each other; an auxiliary shaft portion 200 and the first balance weight 184 are fixed by means of a rivet 236 to each other; and a main bearing 188 is constituted with a member separate 58 from the cylinder block.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Art Unit: 3746

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kessler 4,406,593. Kessler teaches all the limitations as substantially claimed and discussed above but does not recite a "rivet" as a means to fix an auxiliary shaft portion and a first balance weight. Kessler does disclose the use of a rivet(s), element 172, to fasten a leaf valve retainer 170 to a valve plate 144. The examiner takes official notice that it is well known within the art to fasten adjacent elements with a rivet. Kessler demonstrates this practice with element 172. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a rivet as fastening means (col. 7 ll. 1-3).

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 4-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure are cited in form 892 herewith.
